16. MR. BRODRICK'S ARMY.

London : (Arthur L. Humphreys) 1903. First Edition.

Small Qto. Original red wrappers, preserved in binders' red cloth, gilt. Spine very slightly faded, else a superb copy.

(WOODS A 6)

This copy is indeed the first to appear on the open market, indeed very few copies are known. It is a known fact that this copy fetched thessum of no less than £1500, and the auctioneer announced " Mr. Woods says that this is the second issue of the first Edition. No copy of the first issue has ever been found. "

In his original entry i.e., A. 6, Woods says ".....The original edition cannot, in any case, have been very large. "

In Book Collecting & Library Monthly, No 18, October 1969, is an article Mr. Brodrick's Army. 1903. devoted to this very book & its publishing history. From the date of its Preface 18 March 1903, to the date of the receipt of copy by the British Museum 9 April 1903, is merely a matter of 18 days, and the writer analyses the probable cycle of events between the dates.

Anything is possible of course, in this world.....it will be interesting to have Mr. Woods ' findings.
